

My wife and I travel throughout the Southeastern states quite often. We live in North Alabama and have a condo in Ft. Walton Beach, Florida. At home or on the road, all I listen to is XM Radio. If it is within FCC guidelines and the Bill of Rights, they should be able to broadcast weather and traffic. If XM did not provide a service that was lacking in AM and FM, they would not be so successful.